Using a memory foam pillow can help improve sleep quality

The neck support channel helps prevent airway obstruction by lifting and supporting your head and neck from a flat position on the mattress. With the jaw properly aligned to maximize airflow, you'll breathe easier and snore less. Air vortex mesh ensures the pillow stays cool and comfortable.

The pillow can be used in different sleeping positions, for sleeping on your back, on your side or on your stomach. With cervical contour, the pillow is designed to keep the natural curve of the neck. The pillow is made of low-rebound memory foam.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE:

- The pillow cannot be used to treat cervical spondylosis. If you need to use it for medical rehabilitation, please consult your GP for a professional recommendation.
- This pillow is soft but firm. You might experience some discomfort during the first two weeks while your body is trying to adjust to the correct position.
- Please do not expose the pillow to direct sunlight or wash the pillow core. Sun exposure and water can destroy the structure of the memory foam and affect the hardness of the pillow.
- Take the pillow out of the cover, allow it to straighten on a flat surface at room temperature. Before first use it is best to let the pillow sit overnight.
- Any odour will disappear when you keep the pillow in a well-ventilated place for 1-2 days.
- Please keep the memory foam pillow away from fire
- Please do not pierce or cut the contour pillow with sharp objects
